What do I do now?

I currently work as a data processing associate for Philips Lifeline Healthcare in Massachusetts, USA, having worked there for the past 14 years. I'm also currently a mother to my precious 6 year old son and wife to my husband of 10 years.

How did I achieve this?

After an unsuccessful time at college, I decided to try a few different types of jobs until I found the one I really enjoyed. I love this job because it involves helping protect elderly people after they have had a bad accident or health problem. It also gives their loved ones peace of mind, knowing that they are in good hands!

What is my advice?

My advice is, enjoy life and don't give up! Regardless of how hard it is at any time - college, home, families, it is never too late to get what you really want in your life, no matter how old you are! Everyone will have their ups and downs. Think positive. Cherish what you have right now.
