

Where Are They Now?

AT SCHOOL

NOW

Scott Wooding

What do I do now?

I have been running my own business since September 2014. My company's name is SAW Bookkeeping, aimed at delivering a bookkeeping service (Accounting). The main service I provide is to allow all businesses to focus on their business while I work on their books. I also am the current chairman of Luton Deaf Club, for a year and half - before that I was treasurer of the club, an area I continue to be responsible for. At the same time I occasionally do freelance photography.

How did I achieve this?

I studied well to achieve a good grade for Maths GCSE. After this, I studied Accountancy and Photography at Bedford College for 4 years altogether. All the business planning to set up my business lasted roughly 4-6 months.

What is my advice?

Study hard and work hard. If you want to achieve something, just keep following the path until the door finally opens for you.