Heathlands School - Behaviour Policy

Values and Vision statement.

The Education Act 1998 requires schools to have clear policies which promote good behaviour. Procedures should be in place which secure an acceptable standard of behaviour, promote self-discipline, proper regard for authority and respect for others.

Our Behaviour Policy is the system and ethos which aims to create the conditions for an orderly working atmosphere and environment where effective learning can take place. Pupils are encouraged to accept and recognise responsibility for their own actions and the consequences of their decisions. Heathlands has a therapeutic approach to behaviour that prioritises prosocial behaviours and feelings of everyone in the school community. We value that prosocial experiences create prosocial feelings of all individuals. We aim for students to internalise pro social behaviour and participate, contribute and achieve independent of external control and dependant on student motivation.

Successive Ofsted inspections have described the behaviour of pupils at Heathlands as “exemplary” and “very good”. In order to maintain this high standard, we recognise the importance of working in partnership” with parents and encouraging their full co-operation and support.

We also recognise the importance of placing greater emphasis on positive reinforcement of good behaviour. This will be in the form of encouragement and praise in order to value, reinforce and reward good or improved behaviour, achievement and/or effort in school work.

Universal Provision.

Positive / Pro social behaviour is behaviour which is helpful, values school acceptance and upholds the school values and ethos.

At Heathlands pro social behaviour includes but is not limited to:

- Respectful communication to all
- Eye contact
- Gaining attention appropriately
- Cooperation
- Sharing
- Turn taking
- Helping

Strategies to Support Positive Behaviour

All children and young people are expected to adhere to an agreed code of conduct, the Heathlands Charter. This is based on the principal that with rights come responsibilities it gives a code of conduct for stakeholders in the Heathlands School Community. (Appendix 1)

Positive behaviour will also be reinforced through:

- The delivery of well-planned lessons which motivate and engage pupils
- An appropriate school environment
- Positive relationships with staff and students and exceptional role models
- Personal mentoring by class teachers and form tutors
- Student Leaders
- Enrichment opportunities which allow pupils to develop leadership and responsibility

- Recognise and reward positive behaviour. The expectation is that at least 1-2 students are rewarded with house points per lesson.
- A system of clear expectations and consequences (WoW, Appendix 3)

Praise can be given in many ways and might include the following:

- Words of praise, “spoken” or written.
- Good effort and attainment grades shown on work
- Feedback in the student planner/ home school book/ Arbor
- Recognition e.g. by letter home, reward certificate or mention in assembly
- Awarding of house points
- Exceptionality awards
- Rewards trips.

House Points

House points are the whole school system of rewarding pupils. A house point may be earned for:

- Exemplary behaviour or conduct
- Positive attitude
- Excellent effort or resilience
- Exceptional helpfulness at school
- A single exceptional piece of good work
- Sustained improvement e.g. behaviour, work ethic or achievement
- Good or improved communication skills
- Achievement of personal targets
- Good attendance
- Good progress on the Accelerated Reading Scheme
- Correct Uniform

Teaching of Prosocial Behaviours

As well as rewarding positive behaviours, pro-social behaviours are taught to pupils through PSHE lessons, reflection times, assemblies, mentoring, communication time and modelling by staff and student leaders.

Supporting all Learners

Our aim is to use positive reinforcement to achieve an ethos within the school whereby the use of sanctions becomes increasingly unnecessary. It is however recognised that from time to time positive reinforcement may prove unsuccessful in maintaining an acceptable standard of behaviour. In such cases the use of consequences may be necessary. All staff and pupils are aware of the WoW strategy, staff apply this consistently when needed.

The school uses Hertfordshire Therapeutic Thinking strategy. All staff working directly with children have Therapeutic Thinking training which advises on the underlying issues impacting on pupils’ behaviour and gives strategies for de-escalation. Some staff working with targeted pupils also have additional Step-up training which covers safe restraint techniques. Two members of Heathlands’ staff are Therapeutic Thinking trainers.

Consequences

Consequences are put in place to give pupils a clear message that their actions are unacceptable. They are most likely to be accepted by pupils if clearly understood and consistently applied. However, teachers will exercise their professional judgement and a degree of flexibility in relation to the age, understanding and circumstances of the individual child involved. The aim is always that the consequence teaches prosocial behaviour rather than “punishes”. A consequence should be chosen that will support the pupil to learn and develop pro-socially.

Where possible the aim is to avoid a situation where a pupil rapidly reaches more serious levels of consequences; therefore, one clear warning should be given before moving onto the next stage of a formal consequence.

Consequences are explained to students under the “WoW” approach. (WoW, Appendix 3)

1/ Detentions

These will be given by teachers for behaviours at Level 2 and in some cases Level 3. For example;

- a) Missed homework
- b) Lateness for lessons

Detentions will be managed by the teacher giving them. They will be recorded on Arbor under the “behaviour follow up” section. The detention will escalate in time and or frequency if the pupil fails to do it. In Upper School form tutors will monitor pupil’s behaviour on Arbor. Where there is a pattern of a number of detentions received they will work with the pupil, their parent and leadership to resolve the issues proactively to avoid the need for repeated detentions.

2/ School Service

School service may be considered an appropriate consequence to teach pupils following an incident. For example, pupils who have shown disrespect through damaging property may receive a consequence to help repair or tidy the damage done.

Tasks will be carefully chosen to ensure they are safe and not likely to encourage further inappropriate behaviour. The following are examples rather than an exclusive list.

- Litter collection.
- Clearing the dining room after lunch
- Cleaning off graffiti.
- Cleaning the inside of the school vehicles.
- Sorting out the greenhouse/ plant pots.

3/ Outings

Heathlands believes that positive experiences build positive feelings and therefore create positive pro social responses. We do not associate bribery (the threat of withholding a desirable experience) with a therapeutic and positive mode of behaviour support.

Outings and experiences are only missed as a protective consequence on occasions where a student’s behaviour is deemed as dangerous and therefore not safe for the child to be involved.

4/ Concerns

Concerning behaviour is logged within the Arbor database and is matched to the WOW procedures. This allows those responsible for pastoral care to easily see any concerns logged by other staff members. It also allows for easy analysis of concerns for individuals and groups.

For serious concerns at level the Arbor system allows letters home to inform parents / carers of the issue and the actions taken.

Form tutors and pastoral lead staff monitor Arbor behaviour regularly and keep in regular contact with parents and carers and update them where needed. Where children have an allocated social worker this information is also passed on. Behaviour emails are issued weekly by the pastoral team for more serious incidents. The school promotes a culture of communicating openly with parents and carers.

5/ White Slips –Lower School

In lower school most behavioural issues will be effectively managed by class teachers. White slips will be issued for more serious behaviour incident. Being given a white slip is usually a sufficient deterrent for pupils however in exceptional circumstances consequences may be used with care and thought to suit the age and ability of the child involved.

Anti social behaviour.

Anti social behaviour is defined as behaviour that causes harm to an individual, group, community or environment.

Heathlands recognises there is a spectrum of anti-social behaviour which can be low level, difficult and dangerous. We also recognise that all children are different and identify our introverted and extroverted learners.

Heathlands staff have had extensive training led by Therapeutic Thinking tutors on conscious and subconscious behaviours, staff work hard to identify areas of anxiety for the child in order to promote pro social behaviours. The staff team recognise all pupils are different and collate responses that minimise risk to the school community whilst promoting prosocial behaviour.

Individual Behaviour Planning

All pupils have personal development targets in their annual reviews. These are converted into child friendly language and are discussed with students by form teachers and mentors.

Where a pupil does not respond to the routine behaviour structures more targeted intervention will be planned. Some students have social emotional and mental health needs which result in some challenging behaviours. The school has a strategy for managing more challenging behaviours as outlined in Appendix 4.

Individual behaviour plans are drafted and shared amongst all those working with the child. It will be consistently applied by the whole team and shared with Heath House staff, ~~parents and carers~~. Children whose behaviour is a regular cause for concern will be additionally monitored on the behaviour watch list.

Individual behaviour plans are drawn up where there is a concern about risk to self or others. This will identify the probable cause of the behavioural difficulties and outline strategies to minimise risk.

Where behavioural issues relate to sexual misconduct a focused Risk Management plan (RAMP) will be implemented.

In some cases it will be necessary to seek the advice of outside agencies e.g. Educational Psychologist, CAMHS, Behaviour Support Teams or Education Support Centres. Advice from such referrals will be incorporated into individual planning.

Behaviour review meetings are held half termly when the Co-Head Teachers and pastoral lead teacher and assistant SENCO review any pupils whose behaviour is a concern, consider the effectiveness of interventions and make recommendations for further actions.

It is recognised that poor behaviour in some deaf children can stem from a limitation in the normal range of social interaction that hearing children encounter and as a result of communication difficulties e.g. when parents are unable to sign and therefore communicate effectively with their children. Deaf children need to develop a range of coping skills to deal with their difficulties and frustrations. Pupils are encouraged and given opportunities to discuss their feelings in both formal and informal school settings.

Exclusions

Excluding a child from learning activities is a serious consequence and should not be used routinely. The purpose is to ensure the safety of other members of the school community, to ensure the learning of other pupils is not disadvantaged and to give the young person who is being excluded time to reflect on their inappropriate conduct. There are three different levels of exclusions; internal exclusion, fixed term exclusion and permanent exclusion.

Internal Exclusion

Internal exclusions may be given by any member of senior staff. This sanction can be appropriately used where a pupil's behaviour in lessons is defiant, rude and abusive thus negatively impacting on the learning of others and undermining the teachers authority and ability to maintain good order. Pupils on internal exclusion will be restricted to a quiet room where they will be supervised by staff and supported to reflect on their behaviour. Pupils on internal exclusion will not be allowed to mix with their peers during breaks or lunchtimes for the duration of the exclusion.

Fixed Term Exclusion

Fixed term exclusions may be given by the Co head teachers for one off serious offence or for persistent problems where the young person has failed to respond to other behaviour intervention strategies.

Where violence is involved exclusion will always be considered. Thought will be given to the individual circumstances in each case including the age and understanding of the pupil involved and past disciplinary history.

Permanent Exclusion

This consequence will only be used in very exceptional circumstances when all other avenues of support and intervention have failed. Wherever possible if a child is at risk of permanent exclusion this will be brought to the attention of the parents/carers, governors and placing Local Authority and an agreed move to a more appropriate placement sought.

Residential Pupils

It is important that there is consistency of approach between Heath House and classroom staff, however behavioural issues should not be "carried over" into Heath House and vice versa as a matter of course.

Allegations against staff

If a student makes an allegation against a staff member the appropriate procedures will be followed in line with the school's child protection policy. If the allegation made by the student is found to be deliberately false and malicious appropriate action will be taken, in making this decision the school will consider the individual circumstances of the case, the age and understanding of the pupil involved.

Related Policies and Procedures

Staff will take account of the following when managing issues of pupils' behaviour and will ensure appropriate records are kept. (Staff will take note of the flowchart - Appendix 2)

- Anti-Bullying
- Reducing the need for physical intervention.
- Accident and Incident reporting procedures

Support for students with SEMH resulting in challenging behaviour

Key principles:

- Appropriate, socially acceptable and safe behaviour should be expected without exception.
- All staff are working together with the shared team aim of supporting pupils. Staff recognise the importance of establishing good relationships. They will model the behaviour we wish to see including the willingness to reflect and learn from mistakes.
- Staff will understand the reasons behind why some children have challenging behaviour but will not excuse it. Any negative language will be directed at the unacceptable behaviour rather than the child.
- Focus of approach must be on developing skills of self-control in pupils and their ability to make the right decisions. Our approach is not about pupils doing as they are told because they are scared. If only behaving if scared in one lesson/ with one person pupils might then be even worse in the next lesson.
- There will be a focus on consequences not sanctions, clearly understood and displayed e.g. WOW. Incidents of unacceptable behaviour will be followed up by all. If pupils don't accept lower level consequence it gets "upped" therefore crucial that there is a staged approach so that referral to SLT is seen as significant
- Staff will focus on a formula of Calm > Reflect > Repair > Restore to help pupils identify what's gone wrong, learn from mistakes, see others' viewpoint then make amends
- Small positive steps will be identified and encouraged because to improve children need to develop their self- worth. Rewards for the majority will link in to house rewards and enrichment activities
- Arbor will be used for logging concerns and for analysis
- Adapted curriculum will be considered. Any learning needs and other underlying issues contributing to poor behaviour will be explored.

Planning - A tiered approach to identification, planning and procedures will be adopted.

Universal provision is the general behaviour policy and applicable to all students. For the vast majority of pupils this is effective. This will include:

- Wow Procedures
- Tutor support and mentoring
- House Points
- Classroom expectations
- Uniform Code
- On report
- Consistent implementation of Charlie Taylor's list "getting the small things right"
- PSHE lessons
- Effective communication with parents

Targeted support will be in addition to the above for the few pupils who have identified needs.

Planning will be pupil focused thus responsive to individual needs. Targeted support might include:

- Individual Behaviour Plan and use of CSD to monitor progress
- Response of calm > reflect > repair
- Nurture
- CAMHS involvement
- Adapted curriculum
- Regular team review
- Regular parental contact
- Planned involvement of LINKS behaviour support team
- Intervention of other specialist agencies
- Good co-ordination and consistency amongst staff
- Risk Assessment and risk management
- Planned use of focus room
- Consideration of and plan for restraint if appropriate
- Emergency protection plan

Targeted support can be offered at three levels depending on the pupil's needs as assessed against the criteria below. Progress and impact of interventions are reviewed half termly in a step up or step down approach.

Level of concern	Criteria
Yellow	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Repeated breaches of normal behaviour expectations - Behaviour frequently WOW level 3 and occasionally level 4 - IBP in place - Very self negating/exhibiting low self esteem - Flagged up in termly reviews/ pupil progress meetings - Significant disruption to learning in some lessons - Occasional but significant outbursts/incidents - Dismissive of some staff

Orange	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Occasional violence towards peers - Threatens or is violent towards staff - Behaviour frequently WOW level 4 - Internal exclusion regularly required - Risk of absconding - Significant disruption to learning across the curriculum - Targeting vulnerable students/ grooming peers - Dismissive of most staff
Red	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Known risk of violence - Has had fixed term exclusions - At risk of permanent exclusion - Needs not being met as interventions are not having positive impact - Daily examples of WOW Level 4 behaviour - Concerns persistently at high level and/or increasing - Children and Parents expressing fear and concern - Emergency protection plan deemed necessary - Police involvement likely as risk he/she cannot be kept safe in school

An Emergency Protection Plan will be drafted in order to respond to the rare and extreme outburst of a pupil which is so severe other members of the school community are at risk. Where predicted this will form part of the planning for an individual child in which case this will be documented and discussed with parents in advance.

- Emergency response detailing action and personnel involved. This will include a procedure for protecting others in the school community in case the child becomes violent.
- Vulnerable areas will need to be considered e.g. Nursery, astroturf and playground can be made safe and secure
- To look at closing the school gates and ensuring perimeter security
- Agreement to isolate violent children out of the building and prevent re-access other than to the agreed safe “calm down” space
- Procedure for informing parents and staff debrief
- Recommendation at what level police are involved

Prohibited items

The following items should never be brought into school:

- weapons, including pen knives.
- alcohol.
- illegal drugs.
- stolen goods.
- tobacco products, including cigarettes, vapes or e-cigarettes.
- pornographic images (of any kind, e.g. tabloid topless pictures as well as extreme adult material).
- fireworks.
- anything that has been, or is likely to be, used to cause injury or commit an offence.
- sharp scissors (rounded end school scissors are permitted unless it has been excluded on an individual behaviour plan for a child's safety).

The school doesn't need your child's consent to search them if they think your child has prohibited items. These items can be confiscated and if necessary, passed on to the police.

Mobile phones

It is recognised that many Heathlands pupils have long taxi journeys to school each day and are permitted to bring mobile phones. Before entering the school gate, mobile phones must be switched off and placed in their bag. They must not be turned on or used at any point in the school day. Pupils must wait until they have left the school site and entered their taxi before taking phones out of their bags.

Heath House pupils must wait until they have signed into Heath House at the end of the day before taking out their phones and then follow the Heath House policies for mobile phone use.

Pupils seen using their phone during the day on school site will have the phone confiscated. This will be handed into the Co-Headteachers. Co-Headteachers may retain the phone and ask parents to collect the phone.

Pupils found to be using their phone on school site on more than one occasion may be required to hand their phone to the office every morning.

Smart watches

Along with mobile phones, smart watches are not permitted in external exams. Therefore, the school discourages use to support pupils to prepare for examination conditions. Pupils are permitted to wear smart watches. However, if pupils are found to be using smart watches to send electronic communications throughout the day, they may be required to hand their smart watch to the office every morning.

Searches

There will be two members of staff present during the search - the person doing the search and the search witness. In the majority of circumstances, the staff will instruct the pupil to open their bag and their pockets themselves, removing the need for staff to touch the pupil. The pupil will not be asked to remove clothes, other than outer clothing such as the blazer or coat. If there is the need for staff to support the pupil to open pockets the search should be done by someone the same sex as the pupil. If there's a risk of serious harm to a person if the search is not conducted immediately, a pupil may be searched by a person of the opposite sex and without another member of staff present.

Police intervention at school is extremely rare. Should the need for this arise, pupils would not be left unaccompanied but have an appropriate adult from school staff with them at all times for both communication and advocacy support.
